PROCEDURES

3.01 Faculty members must maintain written records, in a grade book or comparable formal account, of the results of student examinations, projects, presentations, conditions for the removal of an "I" and other items that count toward the final grade or an incomplete grade.

3.02 Faculty members must maintain copies of syllabi, course policy statements, examinations, and other materials pertinent to their courses for a five-year period.

3.03 The responsible party, faculty member or department head, should retain all grade records for five years; then they may be destroyed provided no complaints have been filed. If a complaint has been filed, the records may be destroyed two years after the exhaustion of all legal remedies, provided records meet all other stipulated retention requirements.

3.04 Faculty members must retain completed tests, examinations and papers until returned to students. If papers are not returned to students, unreturned materials must be retained in office until the expiration of the academic appeals period; then they can be destroyed. The deadline for filing grade appeals is no later than four (4) months after the date the grades are officially due in the Registrars Office, or six (6) weeks after the student begins a new semester, whichever comes first. (OSU Policy and Procedures, 2-0821).

3.05 Complete Qualifying comprehensive or general examinations for Masters or Doctoral degrees must be retained in the academic department for four (4) years. If grievances have been filed destroy two (2) years after exhaustion of all legal remedies provided records meet all stipulated retention requirements.

3.06 Academic department heads are responsible for ensuring that faculty members and teaching assistants who are leaving Oklahoma State University for an extended time (such as a sabbatical leave) or permanently deposit their written records of student examinations, projects, presentations, and other items that count toward the final grade as well as copies of syllabi, course policy statements and examinations, with their department head. Either originals or exact copies, but not electronic files, are acceptable. Adjuncts must also return all above records to department heads, or in case of OSU- Tulsa, to the VP for Academic Affairs, who will in turn forward them to the department head.
